THINK DREYFUS' CONVICTION SURE

Antis Are Increasingly Confident.

TODAY'S EVIDENCE REGARDED UNFAVORABLE.

Captain Cuignet the First Witness Before the Courtmartial Today—The Man Who Discovered Henry's Forgery—Began Testimony With a Long Speech Denouncing the Prisoner—One of the Sensational Develpments of the Trial—Gen Conse Tells of the Alleged Confession—Court Adjourns Until Monday.

Rennes, Aug. 19—[Special]—Captain Cuignet, aid-de-camp of the war office, was the first witness before the Dreyfus court martial, today.

Cuignet is the man who discovered the Henry forgery, and also testified before the court of cassation of the bad faith on the part of the foreign office in tampering with the dispatch to incriminate Dreyfus.

Notwithstanding this, Cuignet began his testimony with a long speech, denouncing Dreyfus. This lasted until Dreyfus raised his hand in protest.

The witness showed remarkable familiarity with the spy system of Europe, and referred to the secret agents by the letters of the alphabet, so that his testimony sounded like a proposition in algebra.

Letters Incriminating Dreyfus

Cuignet claimed that bushels of letters incriminating Dreyfus, including a letter from Schneider, the Austrian military attache, whose repudiation of the letter attributed to him, declaring Dreyfus' dealings with Germany, was one of the sensational developments of the trial. Cuignet claimed that this repudiation was forced from Schneider.

Under the examination by De Mange the witness differed from his testimony before the court of cassation in withdrawing all implications against Du Paty de Clam and Henry.

Du Paty de Clam was called to the stand. His absence, owing to illness, was explained to the court, which ordered that his deposition be taken at Paris.

Solemn Unsupported Declaration

General de Boisdeffre, ex chief of the general staff, was the next witness. He is an amicable gentleman of advanced years.

The witness devoted his time to showing that Picquart was wrong in the testimony he gave Thursday and yesterday. Like the ex-ministers of war, the witness made a solemn unsupported declaration of the prisoner's guilt. "I am convinced as before", said de Boisdeffre, "that Dreyfus and not Esterhazy wrote the Bordereau and that Dreyfus is guilty.

Sure Dreyfus Wrote Bordereau.

Gen. Conse was the next witness. He told of Dreyfus' alleged confession and said he was sure that Dreyfus wrote the bordereau.

Dreyfus questioned Conse about the latter's insinuation that Dreyfus spied on the war department.

He argued that it was a physical impossibility for him to have done certain things at the time and place stated.

Conse fully admitted that it was probable that Dreyfus had not done these things, but insisted it was possible.

The court then adjourned until Monday. The course of today's evidence is regarded unfavorable to Dreyfus.

The Anti-Semitics are increasingly confident of his conviction.

Another Suspect Arrested.

Rennes, Aug. 19—[Special]—Another individual alleged to have shot M. Labori has been brought to Rennes and was drunk when arrested.

The condition of Labori today is highly satisfactory and the patient is improving steadily.

Labori Will Be Present Monday.

Washington, Aug. 19—[Special]—Rennes dispatches say Labori's physicians will allow him to attend the court-martial next Monday.

There is fear that unless his anxiety regarding the trial is relieved, he will suffer a relapse.

MAY CATCH WOULD-BE ASSASSIN.

On the Trail of a Suspect Plodding Toward Paris.

Rennes, Aug. 19.—The assassin of Labori is surrounded and should be caught and brought in within forty-eight hours. His trail was picked up at a farm on the byroad between the Fougeres road and Servon, on the way to Paris. Here he stopped at a barber shop at Servon and asked for a razor to shave himself with, which was furnished him. The barber's wife, who gave a complete description of him, said he looked tired and worn out.

Satisfactory traces were also found of him at Chateau Giron, some miles farther on, and it is now evident that he is following the road to Paris, which is never any great distance from the railway, where he evidently hopes to steal a ride or take a ticket on a passing train. If he does this he will be instantly caught. If he continues his march in the same direction he must come in another day to the open country, the entrance to which is completely picketed, military gendarmes being on watch for him in all the surrounding communes.

Confirms Schneider Denial.

Paris, Aug. 19.—The Figaro publishes a communication from Count Paul Esterhazy, the Austrian charge d'affaires at Paris, confirming the Schneider denial printed by the Figaro. The reference was to a letter alleged to have been written by the Austrian military attache at Berlin, declaring Dreyfus had relations with Germany. It was mentioned in the testimony of Gens. Mercier and Roget.

Claims He Tried to Kill Labori.

Rennes, Aug. 19.—A man named Glorot, who claims he is the one who attempted to assassinate M. Labori, was brought to Rennes Friday. He had been arrested at Dol. Col. Picquart, M. Gast and others who saw the would-be assassin declare Glorot is not the man. The prisoner has written a letter to the police making an alleged confession and glorifying the crime. The doctors say he is insane.

On Eve of Financial Scandal.

Rennes, France, Aug. 19.—It is learned on good authority that a great financial scandal is about to be revealed in Paris, in which one of the generals who is a witness in the Dreyfus case is seriously compromised. The incident, when it happens, will tend greatly to secure the acquittal of Dreyfus.

Esterhazy May Testify.

Paris, Aug. 19.—There are rumors that after all Esterhazy will go to Rennes to testify.

Detroit, Aug. 19.—After an exceedingly stormy executive session of three hours the International Typographical union decided to leave the settlement of the Chicago difficulty in the hands of the executive council. The council was empowered to proceed to Chicago, investigate the difficulty and take whatever action was deemed necessary. The question is whether or not extreme measures shall be resorted to in unionizing the allied printing trades in Chicago, where at present both union and non-union labor is employed.

Reports of committees was the special order for the night's session, which continued until nearly midnight. Among the more important action taken was: Declaring that no member of the I. T. U. ought to become a member of the National Guard, and a resolution favoring postal savings banks.

Revolutionists to Be Held.

Santiago de Cuba, Aug. 19.—It is very apparent that the insular authorities intend to compel observance of the neutrality laws and to prevent Cuba from becoming a base for expeditions directed against the government of Santo Domingo. Gen. Wood received orders from Havana to hold the revolutionists who were captured at Baracoa until further instructions are received.

Nebraskans to Pay Their Way.

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 19.—Gov. Poynter has abandoned the project of providing a special train for the First Nebraska. Over $15,000 had been pledged by private subscription, leaving $20,000 still to be raised. The governor wanted the banks or the railroads to provide transportation and trust to the legislature for reimbursement, but they refused.

Fires Threaten the Towns.

Watertown, N. Y., Aug. 19.—Forest fires in Jefferson county are raging, and more than 1,000 acres of timber land and pasture have been devastated since Sunday. The villages of Smithville, Adams and Glen Park, two miles from Watertown, are in constant danger, and men and women in the fire district are fighting the flames.

Hailstorm Destroys Grain.

Oakes, N. D., Aug. 19.—The hailstorm passed two miles east of this place Thursday evening, destroying all the standing grain in a strip about two miles wide and extending east to Forman. Wheat was nearly all in the stack, but all the flax, millet and corn was destroyed. The high wind did considerable damage to buildings and stacks.

To Use American Machinery.

London, Aug. 19.—A dispatch from Sydney says that the premier of New South Wales intends to hasten a measure for technical education by establishing experimental farms, the government undertaking to assist the farmers to obtain the best American machinery.

Mines to Resume Operations.

Pana, Ill., Aug. 19.—President John M. Hunter of the State United Mineworkers' Association of America was here Friday and, together with the local officers, held a consultation with Superintendent Broehl and Secretary Puterbaugh of the Pana Coal company. As a result it is authentically stated that the old mine will resume operations with union labor.

Plague Record at Oporto.

Oporto Portugal, Aug. 19.—It is now acknowledged that the bubonic plague began here on June 4 last, since which time there have been thirty-nine cases, thirteen proving fatal.

LINE CITY FARMER FLEES TO ENGLAND

LEAVES BELOIT WITH LARGE SUM OF MONEY.

John Beesley Is the Alleged Scoundrel—Janesville People Are Said to Be Included Among His Victims—Mortgaged Farm Several Times Within a Week.

John Beesley, a farmer living near Beloit, has fled to England with large sums of money which he obtained mostly by fraud in Rock county and particularly in the Line City. Several Janesville merchants are also reported to have been victimized by the swindling granger, who traded in this city on his extensive credit.

He mortgaged his farm to several parties within a week, using the same abstract in each case; he secured large loans from business men and widows; he attended auction sales in various parts of the country, and, although having large sums of money on deposit in the Beloit banks, he gave his note in payment for the large amount of goods that he purchased.

His son, also a well-to do farmer, did likewise, and together they sold the various articles. In Beloit, one of the best known of the college professors was caught by the smooth swindler for one thousand dollars, and is looking for him with blood in his eye.

Of his various tricks, the most unique perhaps, was that of placing stones in the sacks of oats, which he sold by weight. He played it once too often, however, and was detected in it by one of his victims, who swore out a warrant for his arrest on the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. Beesley, to his regret however, found it impossible to wait, so he took $50,000 of his ill-gotten gains and with his precious son started for New York, where they took passage on the first steamer for Europe. The English authorities have been notified to be on the lookout for the pair and it is thought that they will be apprehended and returned to this country to face their many victims.

DEFEAT HAYTI TROOPS

Government Troops Sent to the Front to Suppress Revolution Are Severely Whipped.

Cape Haytien, Aug. 19—[Special]—The government troops sent to the front to suppress the revolution, were severely whipped.

ONLY FORTY-SIX CASES

Outbreak of Bubonic Plague at Oporto Is Said to Be Deminishing.

Lisbon, Portugal, Aug. 19—[Special]—The outbreak of the Bubonic plague at Oporto is deminishing. Only forty-six cases altogether are reported.

Expects a Special Session.

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 19.—Congressman A. S. Berry of Newport, Ky., in an interview here, stated that he believed President McKinley would call a special session of congress in October to submit the Philippine question to that body.

Congressman Berry also predicted that anti-expansion would be the watchword of the democratic party in the presidential campaign, that the Chicago platform would be indorsed, but that the money question will be ignored to a great extent.

"Kid" McCoy Easily Knocked Out.

Chicago, Aug. 19.—"Kid" McCoy was knocked out in less than half a round Friday night by Jack McCormick, a comparatively unknown fighter, who hails from Philadelphia. The blow that did the business was a heavy right-hand swing that landed fairly on the point of the chin. McCoy fell at full length on his back and was counted out. He was unconscious about twenty seconds and it was some time before he had a good idea of what had happened.

Deal in Grain Elevators.

Winona, Minn., Aug. 19.—A big deal in the transfer of a line of grain elevators was consummated here Friday. It includes the sale by the National Elevator company of its line of forty-two elevators along the line of the Great Northern and Milwaukee and St. Paul railways to the Van Dusen-Harrington company of Minneapolis.

Fear Revolt in Malaga.

Madrid, Aug. 19.—The government fears a popular insurrection in Malaga, by reason of general distress due to storms, floods and famine. Similar anxiety is felt concerning Valencia, Barcelona and Ferrol.

Dewey May Sail on Monday.

Leghorn, Aug. 19.—The Olympia is expected to leave on Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Labor-Saving Shears.

A German who believes in labor-saving devices has patented a pair of shears with a spring attachment. When they are wide open, ready for cutting, the arrangement acts in the reverse way and assists in closing them. Both actions lighten the work of the cutter.

NARROW ESCAPE OF MILWAUKEE PARTY

GASOLINE LAUNCH ON LAKE MENDOTA EXPLODES.

Craft Burns and Sinks—Graham L. Rice Returns After Capturing the Railroad Commission Convention for Milwaukee—Would Be Train Wrecker Held—State News.

Madison, Wis., Aug. 19—A gasoline launch belonging to C. Bernard & Sons, boat livery, exploded last night on Lake Mendota and sank. The members of the pleasure party which was in the boat escaped. The party was composed of Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Scott of Milwaukee, and Dr. Reginald Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bernard, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Scott, all of Madison.

The launch, which was valued at $300, was coming to Madison from the Parkinson cottage on the Black Hawk shore of Lake Mendota, where the party had been camping. A small row boat was towed behind the launch. When the launch was in front of the university boat house, Dr. and Mrs. Scott got into the row boat to row ashore, the launch starting on. A sharp report was heard on the launch, and Dr. Scott looked back and saw she was on fire. He at once rowed back and took all the members of the party off the launch, which burned for about twenty minutes and then sank in deep water.

It is supposed that some gasoline had been allowed to leak from the engine into the bottom of the boat and was ignited from the oil lantern. The gasoline tank in the boat was uninjured.

Commissioner Rice Home Again

Madison, Wis., Aug. 19—Railroad Commissioner Rice returned yesterday from his trip to Denver to attend the national convention of state railroad commissioners. He says that he had hard work to get the convention to select Milwaukee as the next place of meeting, particularly as he was alone, while the San Francisco delegation was big, and offered every inducement to the convention to meet there next year. "The Californians offered free transportation to the members of the convention all about the state", said Mr. Rice, "and that was an argument that I could not match. They offered the delegates all the California wine they could carry away, but I offered them all the beer in sight, and the beer was an important argument. I hope the people of Milwaukee will make an effort to properly entertain the convention when it comes there next May. The convention is composed of representative public men, whose impression of a town is important. I should like to see committees appointed at the proper time to entertain the members of the convention, and to arrange side trips, and other forms of amusement."

Pink Eye Has Returned.

Madison, Wis., Aug. 19—Pink eye is appearing among the cattle of the southwestern and northeastern parts of the state, according to State Veterinarian Clute and is making serious inroads among the cattle at various places. The disease resembles in its symptoms the affection as it appears among horses, but responds to treatment readily when attended to at once.

Wisconsin Pensions Granted.

Washington, D. C., August 19—Original—John A. Conant, Oshkosh, $8; Henry A. Heath, Milwaukee, $8. Increase—Thomas Iaska, Reno, $6 to 12; Daniel Doyle, Lancaster, $12 to $24. Original Widows, etc—Mary E. Minton, Wisconsin Veterans' home Waupaca, $8.

Rosseau Held For Trial.

Appleton, Wis., Aug. 19—Felix Rosseau of Northport, 18 years old, was examined before Justice Lennon today on the charge of attempted train wrecking. He was arrested last Saturday at New London on the charge of having placed a rail on the tracks of the Ashland division of Northwestern road with the intent to wreck an express train. Rosseau was bound over to the circuit court for trial.

Run Down and Killed By a Train.

Brillion, Wis., Aug. 19—Lawrence Dowd of Holland, was struck by a train on the Milwaukee road last night. His body was found this morning one mile north of Forest Junction. He was unmarried and 30 years of age.

Troops Reviewed by McKinley.

Plattsburg, N. Y., Aug. 19.—At 4 o'clock Friday afternoon the cannon on the parade ground at Plattsburg barracks sounded a presidential salute to signify that President McKinley and party had arrived at the government fortifications to review the Twenty-sixth regiment. Mrs. McKinley presented a handsome silk flag to the regiment, Col. Rice receiving it in behalf of his men. Then the regiment passed in review before the president. President McKinley spoke in the highest praise of the regiment, which will leave for Manila in about two weeks.

Bishop Janssen Is Upheld.

Belleville, Ill., Aug. 19.—Special meetings of branches of the Catholic Knights of Illinois and the Western Catholic Union were held here Friday to take action on the St. Patrick's parish difficulties. Resolutions were unanimously adopted denouncing the attitude of the parishioners and their sympathizers toward Bishop Janssen, expressing confidence in him, and declaring for the necessity of upholding ecclesiastical authority.

BICYCLES WILL COST MORE

Advance in Cost of Material Causes a Rise in Price of Wheels.

Janesville people who travel on "bent pleasure" next year, will pay more for their silent steeds. A peculiar condition of affairs confronts the dealers in bicycles for next season. The recent advance in materials making them from 30 to 50 per cent higher will increase the cost of wheels next summer over that of the present season. A great deal of trading is done each year by riders who desire to have a new wheel by exchanging in the old and paying the difference. What basis to use in figuring the trade is beginning to be thought of by the dealers, and they are puzzled over it.

A second hand wheel must be taken on terms allowing a subsequent sale, the two transactions yielding a profit a little larger than the amount cleared on a cash deal. With a '99 wheel costing $30 to $35 and the 1900 wheel listed at $45 to $50 it will be difficult to arrange a satisfactory basis for dealing to the satisfaction of the purchasers and at the same time allow the old wheel to be advantageously sold.

Another peculiar thing in the new prices as hinted by the manufacturers is that while the ordinary chain wheel will be advanced several dollars the chainless will be made cheaper, the two approaching each other materially in price.

CATHOLIC CHURCH FIRE

Conflagration Broke Out at Cincinnati During a Funeral Service—Loss $120,000.

Cincinnati, Aug. 19—[Special]—Fire broke out in the St. Paul's Catholic church this morning during the progress of funeral services.

All of the occupants escaped, but six firemen were seriously hurt, and the church was destroyed at a loss of one hundred and twenty thousand dollars.

CAPITALISTS UNEASY

Banks at Brussels Receive Deposits From French Capitalists—Fear Dreyfus Affair.

Brussels, Aug. 19—[Special]—The banks here are receiving large deposits from French capitalists because of the financial insecurity of France until the Dreyfus affair is settled.

RUSSIA'S CZAR IS ILL

He Is Suffering Again From Epilepsy and an Operation Is Necessary.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 19—[Special]—It is learned on high authority that the czar is again suffering from epilepsy and that an operation is necessary.

The czar contracted the disease while traveling around the world with crowned prince of Greece.

ADDS TO RELIEF FUND

McKinley Donates $250 to the Relief of the Porto Rican Sufferers.

Washington, Aug. 19—[Special]—President McKinley has donated two hundred and fifty dollars for the relief of the Porto Rican sufferers.

Firemen Choose Officers.

Milwaukee, Aug. 19.—The National Firemen's association, at its business meeting Friday, elected E. I. Alderman, Marion, Iowa, president. The selection of the place for the next meeting was left in the hands of the executive committee, Detroit, Niagara Falls, Cincinnati and Cedar Rapids, Iowa, competing. Buffalo wants the convention for 1901.

Russian Wheat Crop Fails.

London, Aug. 19.—Private advices to some of the foremost bankers here report that the Russian wheat crop will be a great failure. This means, if true, higher prices for American wheat and continuation of the heavy exports from New York, as eastern Europe will be partly dependent upon the United States for foodstuffs.

Banquet to Olympia Officers.

Leghorn, Aug. 19.—A banquet will be given today to the officers of the United States cruiser Olympia. Admiral Dewey will not attend. Though declining the invitation to the dinner, the admiral has recovered entirely from his illness.

Jehu Baker Is Improving.

Belleville, Ill., Aug. 19.—The condition of Jehu Baker is slightly improved and hopes are entertained for his recovery. He is still weak, however, and his chances are affected by extremely hot weather. His fever is not so severe.

Joining the Chair Trust.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Aug. 19.—Promoters of the chair manufacturing combine have secured the agreement of eighty-eight of the leading chair manufacturers to enter the trust. The trust will probably be capitalized at $20,000,000.

Prisoners May Be Returned.

Manila, Aug. 19.—It is now reported that the question of the liberation of the Spanish prisoners still in the hands of the Filipinos is rapidly approaching settlement.

NEW VOLUNTEERS OFF FOR MANILA

Secretary Root Issues Orders.

SAIL AS SOON AS TRANSPORTS ARE PROVIDED.

Directs Seventh, Thirty-First and Thirty-Fourth to Proceed to San Francisco Immediately—Gen. Merritt to Visit the President at Hotel Champlain for a Conference—Navigator of the Cableship Hooker Was Careless—Gen. Miles Will Start for Luzon Late In October.

Washington, Aug. 19—[Special]—Secretary Root today issued orders directing the Twenty Seventh, Thirty First and Thirty Fourth volunteers to proceed to San Francisco immediately.

They will sail for Manila when transports can be provided.

Hotel Champlain, Aug. 19—[Special]—Gen. Merritt is expected here this evening for a conference with President McKinley.

Manila, Aug. 19—[Special]—The board appointed to investigate the grounding of the cable ship Hooker finds that the navigator of the vessel was careless.

Chicago, Aug. 19.—The Record publishes the following:

Washington, Aug. 19.—Major-Gen. Nelson A. Miles, commanding-general of the army, is going to the Philippines. He will start the latter part of October. He will not take command of the forces in the field, nor will he supersede Gen. Otis. He will, however, act in his capacity of general of the army and will have a supervision over field operations. He will direct the assignment of the different regiments and participate in mapping out plans of campaigns. He will reach the Philippines about the close of the rainy season and may remain until peace is restored.

This statement is made upon excellent authority.

Recruiting for the additional volunteers just authorized will not be actively entered upon until Monday, the recruits enlisted this week being used to fill the regiments enlisting in the Philippines and to replace the men being discharged from the volunteer regiments already organized. The recruiting returns for yesterday received at the war department show that there is a surplus of 1,339 men, or just about enough to fill the three regiments in the Philippines to their maximum strength.

TO RUSH MANILA REINFORCEMENTS

Secretary Root Arranging for Their Speedy Departure.

Washington, Aug. 19.—Secretary Root is busily engaged in selecting officers to fill the new regiments, going over the lists of names that have been submitted with recommendation for appointment, and considering their efficiency during the Spanish war. The secretary is giving the matter of these selections his personal attention and the list is being prepared in his private office. After the selections are made by the secretary they will be sent to the president for his approval.

Preparations continue actively in the matter of arranging for the speedy transportation of the troops to the Philippines. The quartermaster's department has been considering the advisability of chartering more transports on the Pacific coast. Already the ships chartered make it possible to send nearly all of the organizations now formed by Sept. 25, instead of two weeks later, which was the schedule first shown to Secretary Root. The transports Logan and Thomas are now being fitted up on the Atlantic coast and it is expected they will be ready to sail by the middle of October and will take three regiments via the Suez canal. At the latest calculation it is now believed to be possible to land all the new regiments in the Philippines by the 1st of December, or very soon after that date.

Seven of the lieutenant colonels named are now serving in the Philippines. They will remain there and await the arrival of their regiments.

While it may not be necessary to use all the troops in the Philippines, it is understood to be the plan of Secretary Root to have a sufficient force not only to defeat the insurgents at every point, but to garrison and hold the places that may be taken, and thus insure a safe line of communication.

Want the Negro Deported.

Dallas, Texas, Aug. 19.—The Texas Farmers' alliance before adjourning its annual meeting at Basset unanimously adopted a resolution favoring the deportation to Africa by the federal government, at public expense, of every negro in the United States.

Jiminez Is Arrested.

Havana, Aug. 19.—It is reported from Cienfuegos that Gen. Jiminez, the Dominican rebel leader, was arrested there just as he was starting on a steamer for Santo Domingo.

LETTER DESCRIPTIVE OF "GAY PAREE."

"PARIS WITH PEN AND PENCIL", BY W. W. WATT....

Shares In The Pleasures Of European Sight-Seeing With Joseph A. Van Kirk.....

Southampton, England, is the entering port for first-class vessels of the American line and here we landed on the afternoon of July 26. Fifteen minutes after the steamer had pulled along side the wharf, passengers were disembarking and were having their baggage inspected by the custom house officials. As we were to take an awaiting steamer for France our baggage was not molested by the English custom officers, as this work is left to the French officials, who first inspect all baggage that is billed to cities in France. In England the examination of baggage is a trivial matter, as there are no forms or routine to go through, beyond pointing out one's effects and opening any packages which the examining officer elects to inspect. Practically the only dutiable goods which a passenger is likely to have along is tobacco and spiritous liquors, but on small quantities of these there is no desire to levy duty. A lady who had taken her pet dog along on the boat at an expense of $10, was obliged to pay $15 duty on the canine. She was so mad that she cried and said she would take her pet back to America if it cost her a thousand. In opening baggage for the custom officials it is well to place all articles possibly dutiable in full view of the officer. Under no circumstances should a fee be extended a custom official.

Southampton is one of the oldest cities in England, seventy-eight miles from London. Like many of the ancient cities of England, it was originally enclosed by fortified walls, a portion of which remain intact. The country around is very pleasant and varied, but without any remarkable natural features. As we had four hours here before the departure of our boat to France, we took a carriage and drove to the ruins of Netley Abbey, which are on the edge of the city and are well worth a visit.

County Fair in Progress

On reaching our destination we were surprised to find a county fair in full sway. No live stock was to be seen, but otherwise the fair resembled those held in Wisconsin, only on a much smaller scale. Several hundred people from the southern portion of England were in attendance and a single glance was sufficient to tell that they were strictly English. We failed to find a good looking girl during the afternoon, and I must confess that we made an extra effort in this direction.

Wherever we went the people gazed at us as though Americans were uncommon in that locality. At midnight we took a boat for France, landing at Havre the next morning at 7 o'clock. The fare from Southampton to Paris is $7.50, which includes stateroom on the boat and second class railroad fare through France. The much talked about English channel was as calm as Rock river and no one aboard was sea sick. On entering the port of Havre we were obliged to remain aboard for two hours because the boat could not pull alongside the wharf until the tide came in.

With the custom officials here we had no trouble, although they did insist on my explaining why I carried my camera in my dress suit case. No country takes the precaution that France does towards looking out for spies, and for this reason they keep a sharp look-out for all camera fiends. Havre is one of the most ancient cities in France, and is a dirty, dingy place. The streets are narrow, and the architecture of the buildings entirely different from those in America, being on the Renaissance style, with an average height of four stories, in the business section. After a drive across the city in a carriage that had seen better days, we found an awaiting train for Paris.

European Train Resembles a Toy.

One's first view of a railroad train in Europe is sufficient to make a lasting impression. The entire train was so small compared to the cars in America, that it looked more like a toy. On entering a station in France, you buy your ticket, and after showing it to the man at the gate, walk to your train and enter either the first, second or third class apartments. Second class is good enough for anybody, and the smart Frenchman says that only Americans and fools travel first class. No conductors are aboard the trains, and on alighting you give your ticket to a man stationed at a narrow gate through which you must pass in order to get out of the station. In spite of the small size of the trains in France, they make as fast time as the majority of those in America. From Havre to Paris you pass through a beautiful country containing several good sized towns.

Farming lands in France are most valuable, and are not allowed to remain uncultivated. The country roads in France are like pavement, and are as fine as any in the world. Not only in the large cities do these perfect roads exist, but you find them all through the farming districts. After four hours ride we reached the famed city of Paris. Twenty miles away we could see the outline of the Eiffel tower, which rises to a height of a thousand feet. On alighting at the depot we spent fully five minutes in trying to make a hackman understand where we wanted to go. After we got started we discovered that the driver was drunk and as he drove us through the crowded streets he would now and then yell out like an American Indian as a warning to other drivers to let us pass. We expected to be stopped on every corner by the police, but luckily reached our hotel in safety. Thus we were ushered into Paris.

Arrival at the French Metropolis.

To do justice to this wonderful city would take several pages of space in a paper the size of The Gazette. For one dollar a day one can secure a comfortable room in Paris, but meals are much more expensive than in America. Breakfast and luncheon will average sixty cents each and dinner one dollar. At the restaurants you have a hard time ordering your meals if you do not understand the French language.

English speaking waiters are to be found in some places but such instances are not as common as one would suppose in a city that is frequented the year around by thousands of English speaking people. Ice and water here are scarce and more costly than wine. If you order water in a restaurant together with ice you must pay for it. Coffee sells for thirty cents a cup and it does seem as if the one aim of the Frenchman was to compel you to drink wine while you reside in his country.

All the large hotels and stores keep English speaking clerks and one has no trouble in shopping. Many of the stores have English signs on their windows and not a few have American and English flags displayed. In many instances these places of business are conducted by either Englishmen or Americans and are high in prices. Landlords here say that hotel prices will be high next year and already Americans are engaging rooms at many of the hotels for the fair of 1900.

Steamboat rates will be much higher. The leading lines this year have had all the passengers they could possibly care for and the rush next year promises to be the greatest known in ocean travel.

Traveling about Paris is not expensive, the best method being by cab. For thirty cents you can hire a cab for an hour. The cost to four is no more expensive than for one. Omnibuses, automobiles, horse and electric cars travel the city in all directions. Up and down the river Seine boats ply at frequent intervals, the fare being a trifle less than five cents. Several thousand cabs are to be found in Paris, one firm owning 7,000.

Underground Street Railway

At a cost of several million dollars, an underground street railroad is now well under way and will be completed in time for the coming exposition.

The historic points of interest in and about Paris are too well known to the student to need space in these columns. The art galleries are alone worth coming thousands of miles to view, as they are to be seen in Paris as in no other city in the world.

To the American making his first visit to Paris he sees many sights uncommon in his own country. When a funeral passes through the streets every true Frenchman lifts his hat until the hearse has passed him. The pall bearers and friends of the family walk, following the hearse. Relatives of the deceased ride in carriages like those used in America. I have seen numerous Frenchmen meet in the streets and kiss each other first on the right cheek and then the left.

Paris is frequented now by thousands of Americans and it is said that this summer they have been arriving and departing at an average rate of a thousand a day. In spite of the fact that Paris has great cathedrals, boulevards and other points of interest, there is no place more frequented by the masses than the morgue. Here is where the unknown dead of the great city of 3,000,000 souls are brought each day for identification. When I visited this gloomy place I found it to be a one story stone building on the river bank directly in the rear of the great Notre Dame cathedral. Fully five hundred people stood without awaiting their turn to view the dead, and it is safe to say that most of them were attracted there out of curiosity. I awaited my turn and entered with camera in hand. A large room cooled with ice holds the bodies, and through large plate glass windows you view the remains, each corpse being placed on a table close to the windows. A half dozen bodies were to be seen, one being a woman who was murdered and one a man found in the river. As such an opportunity was a most novel one for an American camera, I placed it on the railing and was about to press the button, when a six foot policeman placed his strong hand on my shoulder and marched me to the street in true Chief Hogan style.

Frenchmen Gather About

On reaching the street we were immediately surrounded by a crowd of angry looking Frenchmen. The officer then stormed about like an Indian, but as I am no French scholar I could not fully appreciate the situation. Just as I had made up my mind that I was about to get my first introduction to a French jail an English speaking Frenchman emerged from the crowd and explained matters in a satisfactory way, saying that I was not aware of the fact that it was against the law. The best I could do was to put on a sad look and walk away, but I failed to get the pictures.

Paris at night gives the American visitor his idea of why the city is called Gay Paree. Anything may be said of Paris except that it is dull. It is the gayest city in the world. Nowhere else can so much amusement be had, or in so great variety; and he who cannot find it to his taste, either does not know how to seek for it, or is incapable of being amused. Paris, like all other great cities is not without its abuses and drawbacks and I refer now to the "fee" system and from which there is no escaping.

In a restaurant and hotel you are just as much expected to "fee" the help as you are to settle your bill with the landlord. At the theatres even the ushers expect a fee and all this is sanctioned by the owners.

Notwithstanding that the Paris police are an intelligent and well organized body, there are no lack of thieves and swindlers. An officer informed me that 150,000 idle men are today to be found in Paris, making a living as best they can.

The climate here is variable and one might easily become indisposed. American and English doctors form a large body in Paris. A visit to the world's fair grounds at this time is of special interest, as the work of constructing the many buildings is being rushed along by 5,000 laborers. Many Americans are now here for no other purpose than to figure on money making schemes for the year 1900.

GOOD ATTRACTION AT GRAND

Carter's "The Heart of Chicago" Next Monday Evening

The doors of the Myers Grand opera house will be thrown wide open Monday, Aug. 21, to admit the crowd to witness Lincoln J. Carter's greatest spectacular production, "The Heart of Chicago." Melodramatic productions are very popular in this city, especially when one visits us with an established reputation for originality and worth, similar to the above named attraction. The story itself is said to be very interesting and absorbing in plot and action; its principal theme of course consisting of occurrences experienced in every day life in the great Western metropolis. The story of the play is effective, although sensational and filled with thrilling episodes. The scene opens upon the eventful night of the great fire in 1871. The flames cast a lurid reflection through the windows of the office of Coleman & Ames, and all through the first act can be heard the falling of buildings, the roar of the approaching flames, the clatter of horses' hoofs on the pavement and cries of frightened people. The second act occurs twenty years later with a bird's eye view of the city from the roof of the famous Masonic Temple. The third act discloses a realistic view of Washington street which affords an opportunity for the introduction of many clever specialties. In the fourth act we are promised one of the most marvelous mechanical effects ever introduced on the stage, in the approaching engine. Ususlly in scenes of this kind the engine comes on from the wings, but on this occasion it comes "head on." First, the headlight is seen in the distance gradually growing larger and larger as it approaches. The steady throb of the escaping steam is heard, and as the lights go up from out of the darkness approaches the puffing engine. The closing scene is a view of the Court of Honor at the World's Fair. The play is said to be mounted with a wealth of beautiful scenery and we are promised the strongest company that Carter ever gave us.

WATERTOWN TEAM CARRY OFF HONORS

WIN SECOND GAME OF SERIES WITH Y. M. C. A.

Janesville Defeated By a Score of 6 to 4—Left Field Fence Cut a Decided Figure—A Good Drive Brings In Three Scores For the Visitors.

Thursday was circus day and yesterday there was a wild west exhibition at the ball park in which some of the audience took a prominent part. Nine gentlemen from Watertown were also present with their lariats and lassoed a game from the athletic members of the Young Men's Christian association, in which the left field fence cut a decided figure. In the previous contests between these nines, twenty-one innings in all, the Watertown boys had succeeded in obtaining three runs in installments of one each, but yesterday in the second inning with two men on bases, Heany, one of their pitchers and considered their poorest batsman, dropped a ball over the fence and three runs came in a bunch. In the fourth inning Root, not to be outdone by his rival, put one in the same place and with the score 6 to 0 the contest seemed about over, but the home nine finally came out of its trance and succeeded in scoring four runs.

Fisher was in the box for the Y. M. C. A. and was certainly a long ways from being at his best, having neither his usual speedy curves or command of the ball.

McMasters had what in base ball parlance is called a "glass arm" and his throwing to second was something awful. This kind of a battery gave the audience a shock which gave vent to its feeling in howls of derision, and this of course did not help matters along to any great extent. Every nine is bound to have an off day once in a while, and while the Watertown club is no easy one to defeat, our boys would have won yesterday, under all the discouraging circumstances, but for the two hits which Blakely could have caught with his gloved hand tied behind him if the fence had not been in the way.

Way the Runs Were Made.

This is the way the runs were made. Krebs, the first batter up in the second inning, retired on a fly to Sullivan. Walters made a base hit. Rutz got his base on balls. Heany put the ball over the fence and three runs came in. Root made a hit. Kronitz struck out. Disch made a hit. Schaetke to base on balls and Klienow went out from Allen to Kuntz leaving three men on bases.

In the next innings Krebs was again the first man up and was thrown out at first by Sullivan. Walters received a pass to first and came all the way home on a high of McMasters' to second which got away from everybody. Rutz got a still better start as the fourth bad ball was wild and he tried to make second but was thrown out by Mac from the backstop. Heany struck out. One run.

Root opened the fourth inning with a home run drive over the fence. Kronitz made a base hit. Disch to first and Kronitz to second on error of Kuntz. Schaetke sent a grounder to Allen, who instead of touching Disch and throwing to first for a duble, threw to second and got but one. Schaetke immediately stole second. Klienow out on foul fly to McMasters. Krebs made a beautiful base hit scoring Kronitz but Schaetke was thrown out at plate by Blakely.

Scored First In Fifth Inning.

The Y. M. C. A. did not score until the fifth inning, when Brown got to first on an error of Schaetke's and was brought home on a long two base hit of Fisher's on which he could have made third but for falling down. With this good start Allen struck out, McMasters sent fly to left field, and Sullivan out from second baseman to first.

In the seventh Brown opened with a base hit, Fisher sacrificed him to second, Allen handed a fly to Schaetke, McMasters made a hit, scoring Brown and taking second on the play. Sullivan to base on balls with Adkins at bat, Mc was caught asleep off second by the pitcher.

Adkins opened up the eighth by sending a slow grounder to first and stopped running. The ball got away from Kronitz and "Ad" could easily have made first if he had played ball. Blakely reached second on error of Kronitz. Downs was bound to make a long hit or nothing and struck out, but

HUNDREDS DIE IN THE STORM.

Report That the Town of Red Bay Was Destroyed in the Hurricane.

Miami, Fla., Aug. 19.—Capt. Dillon of the steamer Cocoa states that the town of Red Bay, on the island of Andros, twenty miles southwest of Nassau, was swept away in the recent tropical hurricane and about 300 lives lost. An eye-witness of the storm estimated that the loss of life on the island was fully 600. Scattered through the wreck of houses at Red Bay after the storm had subsided, he said, were hundreds of corpses of persons of all ages and classes. Capt. Dillon says the wind blew at the rate of ninety miles an hour at Nassau, with occasional gusts which reached a velocity of 105 miles an hour.

DON'T GO IT BLIND.

THERE'S NO NEED TO IN JANESVILLE.

The Way Is Almost Hedged With Guide-Posts.

Have you ever read a newspaper article, a glowing account of some incident told in elusive words to lead you on, and found it ended up with a proprietary medicine advertisement? Made you angry, didn't it? And were you convinced of the merit of the article? We think not, because it told the experience of some stranger in a far-away town. To take his word for it was it was like "going it blind." It's a very different thing when a statement is prescribed from a citizen, from people we know, and that's the case here.

Mr. H. P. Hans on, of 103 Pleasant St. engineer, employed at the Janesville Machine Co., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills did me all the good that could be expected and I recommend them to any one who may be troubled with a lame back or any kidney disorder. After procuring them at the People's drug store and taking them I felt better slept better, my back did not ache like it did, and I did not rise in the morning with a lame and sore back. I suffered from these symptoms for four or five years and I was more than pleased at the results obtained from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. I highly recommend this reliable remedy to others."

IN MY LADY'S CHAMBER.

The Up to Date Bed Must Have Its French Bolster For the Day.

"Our French cousins have long had the custom of tucking away the plumes in some mysterious recess at the foot of the bedstead during the day and filling their place with a stiff bolster, such as may be seen on the gilded couches of state at Versailles and Fontainebleau, and now in America my lady's chamber, if entirely 'up to date,' must have its pillows for the night and its bolster for the day." So affirms Vogue in preface to an illustrated description of the really simple process of evolving a French bolster from domestic materials without the aid of an upholsterer, the suggestions being given from actual experience.

The bolster here described adorns a pretty blue and white bedroom where the hangings are of the same colonial blue and white cretonne of which the bedspread and bolster are made, the draperies being all edged with white cotton ball fringe, which may be purchased for 6 or 8 cents a yard. It is not every one who cares to indulge in fine feathers to fill a bolster whose function is purely ornamental, the chief object being to construct an article both light and firm without the dents and inequalities sure to result unless a proper stiffening is used. After various attempts the following experiment was successfully tried: Two breadths of cretonne are sewed together, if the bolster is intended for a double bed, and stitched into a long bag, one end of which is drawn up with a strong gathering thread.

A hollow cylinder is next made by rolling four large sheets of stout brown wrapping paper and inserting them in the covering, which must then be stuffed to its utmost capacity with the packing shavings commonly known as "excelsior." To gather up the open end and finish each extremity with a pasteboard "button," covered with the material, is but a moment's work, and you then have an invention which may by right be named the excelsior bolster, for the one described has been in use for many months and has never lost an iota of its form or stiffness.

An airy canopy formed of muslin curtains depending from a large bow tied through a ring in the ceiling is a pretty addition to a bed furnished in this manner and will not interfere with ventilation.

Correct Fingering.

A large volume might be written on the importance of correct fingering in playing the piano, and yet it is one of the most difficult things in the world to get pupils to pay attention to the fingering of a composition, even when the figures are marked plainly above the notes. Teachers should explain to pupils the importance of fingering and see that they observe it from the start. I have had young pupils tell me, on my asking them why a certain fingering was marked in their music, that they "supposed it was to make it hard." It is a long time before the average pupil can be made to understand that one finger is not so good as another if only the right key is struck with it. Let the teacher explain to his pupils that correct fingering is simply "common sense;" that it is the best and easiest way of executing a certain passage, and that many passages are not only difficult, but are absolutely impossible without correct fingering. When a passage in the music has to be fingered, let the pupil do it under your supervision, correcting him if he is wrong, giving reasons and showing him why he is right if he has fingered the passage correctly.—Etude.

THE LONGEST STAIRWAY.

It Is in the Tower of the Philadelphia City Hall.

A novel diversion is about to be instituted at the Philadelphia city hall. Within a few weeks this noble pile, already distinguished as being the highest municipal building in the world, will contain, according to the Press, the highest continuous stairway in the world, and tourists who have hitherto boasted of their muscular ability in climbing the stone steps of the Bunker Hill monument at Charlestown, the Washington monument or the monument to Gen. Brock, near Queenstown, Ont., will tell their friends of their feat in ascending the 598 steps which lead from the seventh floor of the city hall of Philadelphia to the landing about the feet of William Penn. Tower-climbing is one of the fads of tourists. Hitherto the Bunker Hill monument, with its 400-odd stone steps, and the Washington monument, which has a few more, have represented the acme of opportunity for tests of physical endurance. Ascent or descent of these steps has been boasted of, and though both so cramp the muscles of the leg that the climber for an hour afterward is hardly able to walk upright, the distinction has the requited pain. The building commisison, adds the Philadelphia Press, is pushing forward the work on the tower stairway, and within two months it is expected that it will be in readiness for climbers. It will extend from the seventh to the sixteenth floor and will contain just 598 steps of iron arranged about a square, central shaft, in which will run an electric elevator. To reach the tower stairway the climber may mount the 245 granite stairs in the hanging stairways at the northern end of the building, thus making a total climb of 743 steps.

BERLIN'S CLEAN STREETS.

Residents Vie with One Another in Making Them Presentable.

Bicyclists who have ridden much on the asphalt streets of German cities say that the tendency to "side slip" is there much less marked than on similar pavements in this country. The explanation of this fact may possibly lie in the statement which is made by the American consul at Breslau that the asphalt streets in that city are regularly washed, the purpose of the washing being to remove the slime which the asphalt seems to leave and to keep the street from being slippery. The washing has the further effect of preserving and hardening the asphalt. The care taken of the asphalt by the city authorities contrasts strongly with the methods usually adopted in the United States. For instance, the space in front of the consulate is divided into four squares, which are in charge of one man. After cleaning the streets early in the morning he wheels out a barrow load of very fine, sharp sand and scatters it lightly over the streets to prevent slipping. On rainy days the process is repeated several times. Once a week the whole street is sluiced and thoroughly washed with sprinkling carts. These are followed by ample roller brushes, which sweep the water and slime into the gutter, whence it is carted away. After this the man who has charge of the street comes along with his wheelbarrow and sand sprinkler. In spring or autumn, when the streets are often sloppy and wet, the washing is done several times during the week.

Surnames in Ireland.

One of the curiosities of recent philological literature is the appendix to the 1893 report of the British registrar-general, which bears the suggestive title, "Surnames in Ireland." From that compilation one who has an eye for the curious may glean facts and figures for a most interesting article. For instance it is shown that the most common name on the Emerald Isle is Murphy, the number of persons, great and small, who bear the cognomen being 62,600. The following come next in order of frequency: Kelly, 55,900; Sullivan, 43,600; Walsh, 41,700; Smith, 37,000; O'Brien, 33,400; Byrne, 33,200; Ryan, 32,000; Connor, 31,200; O'Neil, 29,110, and Reilly, 29,000.

As an extra precaution every cooking school should be run in connection with an eating school.

Notes of the Game.

One business man remarked that it was the hardest rooting he ever heard a home nine get on their own grounds—but it was his first game of the season.

It seemed like poor judgment on the part of the management to arrange a game for the day following the circus. It affected the attendance and apparently had a debilitating effect upon some of the home players.

With one man out in the first inning, McMasters on second ran all the way home on a fly direct to Disch, resulting in a double of course.

The Watertown players seemed to be the only contented people on the grounds, and it was indeed refreshing to see them feeling so good—they were inside the diamond coaching base runners some of the time.

Fisher made the longest hit of the game, and lost a base hit by slow base running.

Kuntz put one over the fence that was a foul by a few feet. Adkins sent one to right that was just outside the foul line and Downs hit a beauty to right just inside the line, but Henny was right there to catch it.

The management will have to make Downs carry weight—he shows the balance of the nine up in speed.

Tortured Spanish Prisoners.

In view of the inquiry which it is understood has been granted by the Spanish government into the charges of torturing prisoners in the casemates of Montjuich, in Spain, it may be of interest to set out some of the items in the indictment made against the authorities. It is said, in the first place, that a reward of 10,000 pesetas was offered to any jail official who could extort an avowal of guilty from a prisoner. Acting under this stimulus the jailers are stated to have forced the wretched creatures under their control to run round their cells day and night for eighty hours at a stretch, heavy whips being used to keep the victims awake. The officials are also said to have deprived them of all food save salt stock fish and ardent spirits, confession being the price of a glass of water. Not a few paid it, slaked their thirst, and, it is contended, were summarily shot. It is further alleged that wedges were driven under the nails of the prisoners with hammers and allowed to remain until the nails sloughed away. Even more horrible mutilations are stated not to have been uncommon. One of the most cruel devices was, it is affirmed, a machine like a diver's helmet, fitted with a tube allowing the victim to breathe, while a screw compressed slowly the sides and top, thus producing inconceivable agony. One prisoner, Moras, is stated to have undergone this torture more than once, and to have been driven mad by it.

MASKED PITFALLS

Of Quicksand Found in the Desert of Arizona.

Curious but dangerous freaks of nature frequently found in the desert of Arizona are called Sumideros by the Mexicans and Indians. They are masked pitfalls of quicksand that occur in the dry plains and are covered with a treacherous crust of clay that has been spread over them in fine particles by the wind and baked dry by the sun. The peculiar properties of the soil retain all the moisture drained into them after the infrequent rains, and allow it to be filtered to unknown depths, so that a man or a horse or a cow or a sheep that once steps upon that deceptive crust instantly sinks out of sight beyond hope of rescue. The Sumideros are on a level with the surface of the desert. There is no danger signal to mark them and their surface cannot be distinguished by the ordinary eye from the hard clay that surrounds them. They occur most frequently in the alkali-covered flats, and are often fifteen or twenty feet in diameter. Sometimes they are only little pockets or wells that a man can leap across, but the longest pole has never found their bottom. A stone thrown through the crust sinks to unknown depths, and no man who ever fell into one of them was rescued. They account for the mysterious disappearance of many men and cattle.

ECONOMIC LEAGUE MAY BE ORGANIZED

SEVERAL JANESVILLE PEOPLE INTERESTED IN ITS MOVE.

C. M. Merica of Chicago, Here In the Interest of the University Association—A Course of Systematic Instruction Prepared By Eminent Specialists—Study Political Economy

Mr. C. M. Merica of Chicago, is in our city for the purpose of organizing a branch of the Economic League.

Society is in a constant state of evolution throughout the world as a result of economic and industrial tendencies under systems and conditions which ought long ago to have been abolished and many changes are imperatively demanded.

The following named citizens have thus far shown a significance to lend a helping hand in the movement and encourage the work: Rev. E. H. Pence, R. J. Hart, Edward H. Ruger, George G. Sutherland, S. M. Smith, W. A. Jackson, Chas. L. Fifield and H. L. Maxfield.

In this great age of progress, when the changes in our industrial and political systems are revolutionary in their character, when invention and other forces are changing the manner and methods of doing the world's work, when trusts, combines and monopolies are assuming such vast proportions, all should be led to a fuller realization of the needs of society to require such training of the people as shall enable them to best adjust themselves to the rapidly altering conditions.

The Object in View.

The object of The Economic League is to encourage an interest in the discussion of social and economic subjects and to furnish, by lectures and printed courses of study, reliable information on such topics as trusts, municipal ownership, national expansion, the Monroe doctrine, money, tariff, direct legislation, etc., etc., which are of vital interest to the American people. In carrying out this plan it has secured the aid of many of the leading specialists of the world, men who are recognized as authorities in the departments they have treated.

It should be borne in mind that this is not an effort to found a new political party or to interfere with any of the parties already in existence. The Economic League is committed to no party, creed or hobby. Its sole aim is to seek the truth, to arouse public sentiment in each community to the need of unity of action on public questions, to secure a better administration of our laws, and to furnish the information and help needed that all may exercise, intelligently, the rights of American citizenship.

Education Demanded

The education that is imperatively demanded by all classes is the simple and clear presentation of the truth regarding the great social and industrial problems which confront the world and demand solution. This presentation to be from no one standpoint or biased by the interest of no party or class of men, but from different standpoints and with the single purpose to ascertain the truth regarding them.

The plan of the work embraces the forming in every city and town of consequence of a center, open to any respectable person of either sex, where the people may come together once a week, or as frequently as they may wish, for the purpose of discussion and study of these great questions, under competent leadership. In other words it is intended to revive in every community the spirit of the old Boston town meetings, where all classes may meet in friendly discussion of public questions, for their mutual benefit. Who shall say that such meetings are not productive of much good? Over a century ago Thomas Jefferson said of the New England town meetings, that they were "the wisest invention ever devised by the wit of man for the perfect exercise of self-government and its perpetuation." Charles Summer said: "The towns of Massachusetts, like the municipalities of Switzerland, have been the schools and nurseries of freedom. In these small bodies, men were early disciplined in those primal duties of citizenship which, on a grander scale, are made the foundation of our political system. The true glory of the towns then was that they were organized on the principle of self government when that principle was not generally recognized, that each little town by itself was a little republic where the whole body of the freemen were the voters, with powers of local legislation, taxation and administration." And Prof. James Bryce, in his "American Commonwealth," says: "The town meeting has been the most perfect school of self-government in any modern country."

A league of this nature was recently organized at Beloit and is progressing under most favorable conditions.

FATE SEEMS AGAINST HIM

W. H. Tripp of the Town of Rock, Suffers Another Loss.

Fate seems to be against W. H. Tripp, the well known resident of the town of Rock, who resides about three miles southwest of the city. During the last year he had the misfortune to lose two large and expensive barns. He was engaged in erecting the third structure, and yesterday afternoon while the men were at work, the scaffold gave way, three of the men falling with the broken lumber to the ground. In the accident, Mr. Tripp's son was severely injured, as well as two of the employes. Drs. R. W. Edden and G. W. Chittenden of this city, were summoned to the scene. After a careful examination, they decided that no bones had been broken, but the three sustained injuries that will render them unfit for labor for some time to come.

BISQUE OF CLAMS.—Wash two dozen clams (large), put them in a pot on the fire, with half cup boiling water, cover and let steam till shells open; take out clams, let liquor settle, then strain it carefully and set aside; remove clams from shells, chop and pound them in a mortar and press as much of them as possible through a puree sieve. Put 1½ pints of milk in a double boiler, with one small onion, sliced. Put two tablespoonfuls of butter in a frying pan, and when it bubbles up stir into it two tablespoonfuls of flour and let cook a few minutes, but not brown, add enough of the milk, slowly, to make the roux liquid, then add it to the milk in the double boiler, first having removed the onion; add a dash of nutmeg and pepper and half a pint of cream. When ready to serve, stir in clams and one pint of clam liquor. After the clams are added to the milk, leave it on the fire only long enough to get well heated. Beat a moment with egg whip to make it foamy.

DOCTORS AMPUTATE A FINGER

Leon Lake Met With a Peculiar Accident This Morning

Leon Lake, son of Albert Lake, who resides on Linn street, met with a painful accident this morning. While engaged in cleaning his bicycle, his finger was caught in the gearing and badly mangled. Dr. James Mills was called to alleviate the sufferings of the boy, but upon examination found it necessary to amputate the member.

Although the injury was painful, the young man was made as comfortable as possible under the circumstances.

JOINS THE GREAT MAJORITY.

Odd Fellows' Picnic, Madison, Wis.

Why not provide yourself with a good full lunch basket, Thursday, August 24th, and take the special train on the C. & N. W. Ry. at 8:30 a. m., arriving at Madison at 9:30 a. m.? Thence by boat across Monona lake, a distance of two miles, to the Assembly grounds, situated on the shore of the lake, where there is no finer bathing beach in the state. The grounds are beautifully shaded, supplied with excellent water, and contain a pavillion with the seating capacity of three thousand people. After visiting several places the Odd Fellows decided on this as the ideal picnic resort. After lunch a ball game between rival clubs selected from both lodges. A ramble through the capitol and the University grounds will also repay you. Leave Madison returning at 8:00 p. m. and 95 cents covers the trip, rail and boat. Lunches and ice cream can be procured on the grounds.

AN EXHIBITION OF TALENTS

Karl Phipps Is a Refined Entertainer—Gives Entertainment.

Karl Phipps, who is to give an entertainment at the Y. M. C. A. building Monday night, gave a private exhibition of his wonderful talents for a Gazette representative this morning. Mr. Phipps is a refined entertainer and his various specialties are unique and finished. His hand whistling is something marvelous and is an excellent imitation of the soft notes of a flute. His versatility does not end here, however, as he is a finished musician and plays several instruments.

BRIEF BITS OF LOCAL NEWS

TALK to Lowell.

WANTED—Good strong boy about 18 years old. Colvin Baking Co.

AT Columbia hall tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, the Francis Murphy Temperance League and the Y. M. C. A. will hold a joint meeting. Dean E. M. McGinnity and others will speak, and there will be excellent music.

ALFRED OLESON, a twelve-year-old boy, was run over by a horse and buggy at the corner of Main and Milwaukee streets about 3:45 o'clock this afternoon and received a severe bruise on the right leg. The boy was playing ball in the street and despite the warning shout of the driver of the rig, backed into it and was stepped upon by the horse. He was carried to the office of Dr. James Gibson, where an examination failed to reveal any broken bones. He was lucky to have escaped so easily.

The Spider Made a Sensation.

An interesting story is told of how a spider figured in quite a new line. The Cape Town time-gun went off one day lately at 1:28 p. m., instead of 1:30 p. m. The cause may truly be said to be a wonderful one. The time-current for firing the gun is supplied by the Royal Observatory, and goes from there to an instrument called a relay in the Central Telegraph office, Cape Town. The action of this current going through the instrument main moves a light tongue, which is finely set, and this sends a current direct into the time-fuses which fire the gun at the castle. It appears that a spider found its way through one of the openings of the instrument, and while exploring he must have touched this tongue sufficiently to move it over, and this fired the gun. The spider has been transferred from the instrument to the museum, where it is pickled and exhibited as a warning to others of its species not to meddle in matters that don't concern them.

Enlightenment.

From the Chicago Tribune: Mr. Citiman—Here's a building, by the way, that was a fashionable church when I came to this town. It's used now for vaudeville. Uncle Jeff—Vaudeville? What's that? Mr. Citiman—Well, it's a—a kind of informal service. Let's move on.

Grain-O Brings Relief

to the coffee drinker. Coffee drinking is a habit that is universally indulged in and almost as universally injurious. Have you tried Grain-O? It is almost like coffee, but the effects are just the opposte. Coffee upsets the stomach and ruins the digestion, effects the heart and disturbs the whole nervous system. Grain-O tones up the stomach, aids digestion and strengthens the nerves. There is nothing but nourishment in Grain-O. It can't be otherwise 15 and 25c per package.

EMPLOYES TREATED TO AN EXCURSION

JANESVILLE STEAM LAUNDRY MANAGER'S HOSPITALITY.

Twenty Hands Engaged At That Institution and Their Families Enjoy An Excursion Twelve Miles Up the River—The Courtesy Shown a Comendable One.

Charles Schaller, the wide awake manager of the Janesville Steam Laundry, is treating the twenty employes of that institution, their families and a few outside friends to an outing this afternoon.

Mr. Schaller, appreciating their untiring efforts in the direction of promoting "expansion" of business, by that high essential, good workmanship, is the host at an excursion twelve miles up the river to enjoy an afternoon in sociability and be fanned by the balmy zephyrs.

The steamer Columbia left her dock at 2 o'clock with the merry party aboard and in the countenances of the participants of Mr. Schaller's hospitality, shown signs of appreciation that bespoke a delightful afternoon.

On the trip a "watermelon lunch" was served. This included other delicacies of the season that were no doubt relished. The jolly party expect to return about 6 o'clock this evening.

This little courtesy on the part of Mr. Schaller is a commendable one indeed and shows that his heart is on the right side. It is an example of gratitude that other employers of Janesville should pattern after.

MUNICIPAL COURT CASES

Drunks and Vagrants Get the Usual Sentences

In the municipal court today Patsy Griffin was arraigned on the charge of being a vagrant and a common drunkard. He was sentenced to sixty days at hard labor in the county jail, and went down under protest.

Henry Carlson, a disorderly drunk, was fined $2 and costs, amounting to $3.10, or ten days in jail.

Tom O'Neil went down for five days on the same charge.

The civil case of Frederick Dutcher vs. the Western Union Telegraph company, came up today. The plaintiff sues for $325 damages for failure on the part of the defendant company to deliver a message. Pleadings were filed, and the case adjourned to Sept. 9. J. W. Bates of Beloit, appeared for Dutcher, and W. G. Wheeler for the telegraph company.

PLURAL MARRIAGE THE TOPIC.

ARREST OF CANNON. ARE AFTER ROBERTS. . .

Angus M. Cannon, a pillar of the Mormon church and president of the Salt Lake Stake, arrested at Salt Lake City recently on a charge of unlawful cohabitation, was released on $300 bail. The smallness of the amount shows how the people in that section regard the alleged offense. This is generally regarded as the beginning of a concerted effort to put a stop to the alleged practice of polygamy which, it is said, has increased very greatly during the last two years. The complaint upon which the warrant for Cannon's arrest was issued was sworn to by C. M. Owen, a civil engineer, who has been a resident of Salt Lake for twelve years, and the warrant was issued on the authority of the prosecuting attorney, a Gentile. The complaint is as follows: "C. M. Owen, being first duly sworn, deposes and says: That he is a citizen of the United States and a resident and taxpayer of the city and county of Salt Lake; that he is informed and verily believes that on or about the 15th day of April, 1899, one Martha P. Hughes Cannon, state senator of the legislature of Utah, was delivered of an illegitimate child; that the aforesaid Martha P. Hughes Cannon is, by common habit and repute in the community, the plural wife of Angus M. Cannon, president of the Salt Lake Stake of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, and the aforesaid Angus Cannon is the father of the said child, contrary to the provisions of sections 4209 and 4210 of the compiled laws of the state of Utah, 1898."

Mr. Owen cites a long list of witnesses in support of the above charge, including F. S. Bascom, Sarah J. Cannon, wife of Angus M. Cannon; Martha P. Hughes, Lorenzo Snow, president of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints; Governor Heber M. Wells, George Q. Cannon, counsel of the first presidency; Joseph F. Smith, Heber J. Grant, John Henry Smith, John R. Winder, Aquila Nebecker, president of the state senate, and J. T. Hammond, secretary of state.

Cannon is high up in the Mormon church and, it is alleged, has a number of wives. The one with whom he is charged with unlawfully cohabiting is his fourth wife, Dr. Mattie Hughes Cannon. She is a state senator and took quite an active part in the proceedings of the late legislature. On April 15 she gave birth to a baby girl, and the birth was registered on the public records on May 4 with Angus M. Cannon named as the father and Dr. Mattie Hughes Cannon as the mother. The case seems to be so absolutely good against Cannon that it is thought he will plead guilty in the hope that he will get off by paying a fine and escape imprisonment. The penalty for unlawful cohabitation, as perscribed by the statutes of the state, is a fine of $300 and six months' imprisonment in the county jail, either or both in the discretion of the court. There may be a difficulty, if the prosecution becomes general, of getting juries who will convict church dignitaries. Juries are composed largely of Mormons, who believe in polygamy as a cardinal principle of their religion, and past experience shows that, even in clear cases, convictions were hard to obtain, and now that the machinery of the courts, since statehood, is largely in the hands of the Mormons, conditions in that regard are a great deal worse than in territorial days. Should it be found that juries will not convict it will be an additional argument for an amendment to the United States constitution making polygamy a crime against the United States and bringing it under the jurisdiction of the general government. Cannon, when arrested, immediately gave bonds in the sum of $300 for his appearance for preliminary hearing before a justice of the peace on July 14. He is an old man, well up in the sixties, with hair and whiskers as white as snow. It is unlikely he will be sent to jail, and will probably get off by paying a fine.

Celia Dibble, one of Congressman-elect B. H. Roberts' wives, is expected soon to present him with an addition to his family, and when that takes place, Roberts is likely to be arrested on a charge similar to that of Cannon. President Snow, Apostles John Henry Smith, Teasdel, Brigham Young and other high church officials, it is expected, will also be prosecuted when the result of the Cannon case is seen.

The international convention of Christian Endeavorers will begin in aiding in the work of bringing about the expulsion by congress of Roberts of Utah. At the recent meeting in Detroit resolutions which had been adopted by the board of trustees were read, calling upon all Endeavorers to do their utmost toward preventing Roberts from assuming his seat in congress. The Roberts resolutions were as follows:

"The board of trustees of the United Society of Christian Endeavor, speaking in behalf of over 3,000,000 of Americans, solemnly declare their conviction that the seating of Brigham H. Roberts of Utah as representative-at-large from that state in the Fifty-sixth congress would be generally understood to be a condonation of the crime of polygamy; a blow at the sanctity of the marriage relation, and a peril to the purity and integrity of the family, upon which our civil and religious institutions so largely depend.

"We consequently call upon our representatives in the national congress to rise above all partisan and sectional and personal considerations and, in defense of our reputation and character as a law-abiding people, to deny Mr. Roberts a seat among our national lawmakers."

Accompanying the resolutions was submitted a memorial to congress, to be signed by Endeavorers, urging the utmost endeavor in accomplishing Mr. Roberts' expulsion, in accordance with the provisions of the National Constitution, article 1, section 5, as follows:

"Each house may determine the

rules of its proceedings, punish its members for disorderly behavior and, with the concurrence of two-thirds, expel a member."

The memorial also urges the submission of a constitutional amendment to the legislatures of the states defining legal marriage to be monogamic, and making polygamy and polygamous cohabitation a crime punishable by severe penalties, including disfranchisement and disqualification from holding any federal or state office.

Both Roberts and Cannon have strong friends who will stand by them to the end. The former freely predicts that he will not be interfered with by congress.

T. E. HUGHES.

ALLIGATOR'S FREE LUNCH.

"You can't take that in here," said the gatekeeper at the New York Zoo to a woman with a wriggling little animal in her arms. "It's against the rules." "Why, little Teddy wouldn't hurt a thing, and I'll promise you he won't leave my arms a minute. I can't take him away back home now, and I do so want to get in and see the animals." Now, it is a hard thing for a man to withstand the fascination of a pretty face, and when a dimpled, beseeching smile accompanies it—well, the young woman got into the Zoo, and little Teddy went in, too, leaving the gatekeeper hoping sincerely that nobody in authority would see the animal. It was a very diminutive creature, so small, in fact, that if she had chosen his fair owner might have thrown her handkerchief over him and taken him in without difficulty. The skies were bright, the animals all in a good humor, and Teddy seemed to enjoy it all immensely. The big elephant was in the pool taking his daily bath, and when, sucking up a trunkful of water, he treated the spectators to an elephantine shower bath, Teddy's joy knew no bounds, and his mistress thought surely he would break away. In the course of the afternoon they came to the shady rustic bridge which spans the slimy gulley where the huge alligator blinks his life away. The young woman had never seen such a fine specimen, and she was completely absorbed in the spectacle, forgetting even Teddy in her intense interest. Teddy was somewhat near-sighted, and wished to get a closer view of the great, scaly object, so with a gentle tug he disengaged himself from his mistress' arms and jumped headlong into the ditch. The alligator opened his sleepy eyes at this unwonted disturbance, and seeing a visitor lifted his head to make a survey. Teddy's eyes, meanwhile, were popping out so far that you could have knocked them off with a stick. The alligator cocked his hungry eye on the dumfounded animal, and struck with the tenderness of his fat little legs, wriggled leisurely toward him. So quickly that Teddy had no time to give a farewell yelp, the denizen of the swamps opened his grinning mouth and swallowed the dog whole. Then, licking his jaws and blinking his eyes, he rolled over and went to sleep, well content with the free lunch that had been so providentially provided. The young woman's silent distress was pitiful to see. Without a word she walked hastily to the entrance, and with a sheepish glance at the keeper she passed out. "Ain't that the lady who took the pug in?" said the keeper to his companion. "Why, sure it is," he made reply. "I wonder what she has done with him?"

THE BOERS ARE HEMMED IN.

Cut Off from War Materials by Action of Portuguese.

Pretoria, South Africa, Aug. 19.—Dispatches received from Delagoa bay confirm the report that the Lisbon government has stopped the dispatch up country, through the colony of Lorenzo Marquez, of war materials for the Transvaal Republic, ordered in view of the possibility of trouble with Great Britain, and brought by German steamers.

The seriousness of this move is due to the fact that the Transvaal and Orange Free State are hemmed in on all sides save the east by British territory, and on the east access can be had only through the Portuguese colony.

The situation here is highly interesting, and in the view of the best informed the outlook becomes more ominous daily.

New Monetary Legislation.

Washington, Aug. 19.—"I do not think the republicans in congress will experience any difficulty in coming to an agreement on the new currency bill to be prepared," said Representative Babcock of Wisconsin. Mr. Babcock was a member of the house caucus committee which met at Atlantic City last spring to frame a tentative bill. "In my opinion the bill will be passed through the house before the holiday recess and go to the senate for action. The bill which will be submitted to congress will be a measure upon which all republicans can unite, and I think there will be no mincing of words in the declaration in favor of the gold standard."

Wants Fewer Elections Held.

Topeka, Kan., Aug. 19.—United States Senator Harris will introduce three amendments to the federal constitution at the next session of congress and ask that they be submitted to a vote of the people. The first will provide that the president be elected for a term of six years instead of four, as at present, and that he shall be disqualified for re-election. The second is designed to make the term of congressmen four years. The third will provide for the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people. Senator Harris believes there are too many elections now, and he wants to reduce the number.

Killed in a Boiler Explosion.

Norfolk, Va., Aug. 19.—Three of the boilers of the extensive sawmill of Frank Hitch exploded simultaneously Friday and wrought awful havoc. Douglas Shearer, fireman, colored, was instantly killed. The skull of Gus Osborn, water-tender, was fractured; Preston Williams, engineer, was frightfully scalded, and several others received minor hurts. All the injured were negroes.

Big Fire at Vicksburg, Miss.

Vicksburg, Miss., Aug. 19.—Fire started at midnight Thursday in the Levee street warehouse of the R. L. Crooke company, wholesale grocers. It spread rapidly, destroying the adjoining warehouses of the P. P. Williams company, wholesale grocers, and the Lee Richardson Hardware company. The estimated loss is $200,000.

The Shamrock at New York.

New York, Aug. 19.—Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock is here. The America's cup challenger arrived off Sandy Hook Friday morning, resplendent in its coat of light green, and swings at anchor off Tompkinsville, in the lower bay. Its was a record-breaking trip.

SAYS THE MISERY IS GREAT.

Pitiful Scenes in the Stricken Island of Porto Rico.

Ponce, Porto Rico, Aug. 19.—An official has just completed a trip through the southern and most distressed districts of the island. The misery is very great, and is more apparent now than it was immediately after the storm, but the government has the famine districts well in hand and has shown itself competent to deal with the situation.

These official figures are given of the casualties in the Ponce district, due to the hurricane: Dead buried in city, 144; dead buried in country, 250; swept out to sea and drowned, 150; serious hospital cases resulting from the storm, 200.

Relief is being rapidly and effectively distributed. Eact post commander has received $1,000 and limited supplies of food for distribution. More supplies are being forwarded as fast as possible.

Besides the loss of the crops, the loss of life has been extremely heavy. Coming from almost every by-road, pathetically humble funeral processions are met, the bodies being wrapped in palm leaves. The majority of the dead were washed away. The Aibonito district severely suffered. The official figures given are: Killed by storm, twenty; wounded, sixty; houses destroyed in the town and the country surrounding, 1,228. The barracks in Aibonito were totally destroyed. Many soldiers had a narrow escape. One was killed and several were wounded. One is still missing.

EXPLOSION IN A COLLIERY.

It Is Believed Twenty-Five Persons Are Dead and Many Injured.

London, Aug. 19.—An explosion occurred Friday in the Llest colliery, in Glamorganshire, Wales. As this dispatch is sent it is believed that twenty-five persons were killed and many injured. The living have all been removed. The explosion occurred during the night shift, when there were only fifty men in the mine.

Planning Big Mass Meeting.

Pawtucket, R. I., Aug. 19.—The executive committee of the New England Bimetallic league Friday discussed details of the plans for the great mass meeting in September. A letter was received from William Jennings Bryan accepting the invitation to speak. It is arranged that Mr. Bryan will speak twice on Sunday, Sept. 3. The gathering will begin on Saturday with an address by ex-Gov. Altgeld of Illinois, and on Monday there will be three meetings.

Steamer Vigilancia Safe.

New York, Aug. 19.—The steamship Vigilancia, of the Ward line, six days overdue at Havana, is safe. She sailed from Nassau in the Bahama islands at 2 o'clock Friday morning for her destination, having arrived at that port Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

WEEKLY REVIEW OF TRADE.

Fall Demand Adds Strongly to the Situation.

STEEL SCARCITY A DRAWBACK.

The Cramps Find Themselves Unable to Complete Russian Warships on Time—Gigantic Expansion of Home Demand the Cause—The Week's Failures.

New York, Aug. 19.—Bradstreet's says:

"The trade situation gathers strength as summer wanes. Reports of expanding fall demand arrive, accompanied by very cheerful advices as to the outlook in most parts of the country. Wheat (including flour) shipments for the week aggregate 4,040,009 bushels, against 3,616,154 bushels last week, 3,988,348 bushels in the corresponding week of 1898, 5,316,803 bushels in 1897, 2,991,693 bushels in 1896 and 2,389,140 bushels in 1895. Corn exports for the week aggregate 5,531,405 bushels, against 5,950,361 bushels last week, 3,196,021 bushels in this week a year ago, 3,929,033 bushels in 1897, 2,769,601 bushels in 1896 and 1,195,238 bushels in 1895."

R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

"The Cramps have discharged many hundred hands and ask Russia to extend time for completion of two warships because they cannot get the steel. Completion of twenty-one out of thirty-seven vessels building in the Delaware is also affected. It is a curious experience for this country, but shows the gigantic expansion of the home demand. For wool, Coates' circular for Aug. 1 still holds good, although inside quotations are more often made. Sales for three weeks have been 28,399,990 pounds, against 13,996,500 last year, 38,530,305 in 1897 and 23,366,400 in the same weeks of 1892.

"Failures for the week have been 156 in the United States, against 154 last year, and 24 in Canada, against 17 last year."

Sound Sleep

comes from a sweet stomach, pure blood, strong nerves and hearty health. The surest way to acquire these is by an honest use of this famous medicine, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. For fifty years it has never failed to cure stomach disorders, beginning with constipation and ending with kidney or liver trouble. See that a PRIVATE REVENUE STAMP covers the neck of the bottle.

Get what you ask for. Take no Substitute.

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS

WHEN YOUR SYSTEM

needs a tonic nature advises you of that fact. There come wakeful nights, days of weariness, and the inevitable run down condition of health and spirits.

Blatz MALT-VIVINE —(a non-intoxicant) will correct such disorders. Is at once bracing and strengthening. Quiets that nervous feeling. Have you tried it? Remember that you are to ask your druggist for BLATZ MALT-VIVINE and that you want no substitute. Won First Honors at International Exposition, Omaha, 1898.

AN UNCONQUERED TRIBE.

The Fighting Yaquis, Who Again Defy Their Ancient Enemies.

BY C. T. BAXTER.

The Yaqui Indians, who dwell in the valleys of the Rio Yaqui and the fastnesses of the Sierra Madres, across the border from Arizona in the Mexican state of Sonora, have for a century and a half maintained by force of arms a practically independent form of government within the bounds of the republic of Mexico, to which they have steadfastly refused to pay allegiance and with which they have been frequently at war.

The race, which is descended from the Aztecs, is one of the most remarkable of all the aboriginal tribes of the American continent. They closely resemble the Apaches of the American frontier, though endowed with a higher grade of intelligence. They are a race of fighters, though their fighting has been mainly in repelling the incursions of the white man into their territory.

The Yaquis hold that their rights in Sonora are inalienable; that they are the real sovereigns and owe allegiance to no other government. They hold all as aliens who are not of their tribe and stubbornly resist all encroachments. So they regarded the Spaniards, and so they regard the Mexicans.

When the Spaniards first came to Mexico, in 1519, the Yaqui nation numbered a population of 350,000. The territory controlled by them was bounded on the south by Durango and stretched away to what is now known as the northern boundary of Colorado.

GENERAL LUIS E. TORRES.

The first war with the Yaquis was precipitated by Coronado, who, during the period of Spanish occupation, led an armed expedition into their territory. The progress of the invaders was strenuously opposed by the Indians; but, owing to their superior arms and equipments, the Spaniards eventually succeeded in penetrating through their country. This war lasted a year, during which period the Yaquis lost 20,000 of their warriors and were forced to abandon a large amount of their territory to the invaders.

Throughout the succeeding centuries they have been almost incessantly at war with the Spaniards and their Mexican descendants, and by degrees their once powerful tribe has been reduced, until at the present day it numbers less than 15,000 members. Of their former broad domain all the possessions that now remain to the Yaquis are a few leagues of land situated in the lower valleys of the Rio Yaqui, in the southern portion of Sonora. Here, during the brief intervals of peace which they have occasionally experienced, they have made their homes, following their natural pursuits of farming, stock raising and mining.

Back of the Rio Yaqui valley, in the Sierra Madres, lies a territory that is theirs by right of their exclusive ability to penetrate and, when necessary, to inhabit it. This is the war home of the Yaquis. Here, in the conflicts of later years, they have proved invincible, unconquerable.

The last serious fight which these descendants of the Aztecs had with Mexico was in 1896 and 1897, when a young girl named Teresa Urrea, afterward called Santa Teresa, announced that she had the gift of healing the sick and offered to lead her people into paradise. She gathered several thousand Yaquis, who made pilgrimages to her father's ranch, and started a revolution. The uprising spread rapidly and culminated in one of the fiercest and most bloody struggles in the long and bitter conflict between the Mexicans and the Yaquis, which has cost Mexico the lives of 35,000 soldiers and many millions of dollars.

That war continued two years, but its result was practically a draw, the Indians being still unconquered. Peace was, however, effected in May, 1897, by General Luis E. Torres, commander of the Mexican forces. The Yaquis remained pacific until the recent outbreak, when General Torres was again dispatched to Sonora, this time with instructions to thoroughly subdue the Indians or exterminate the race.

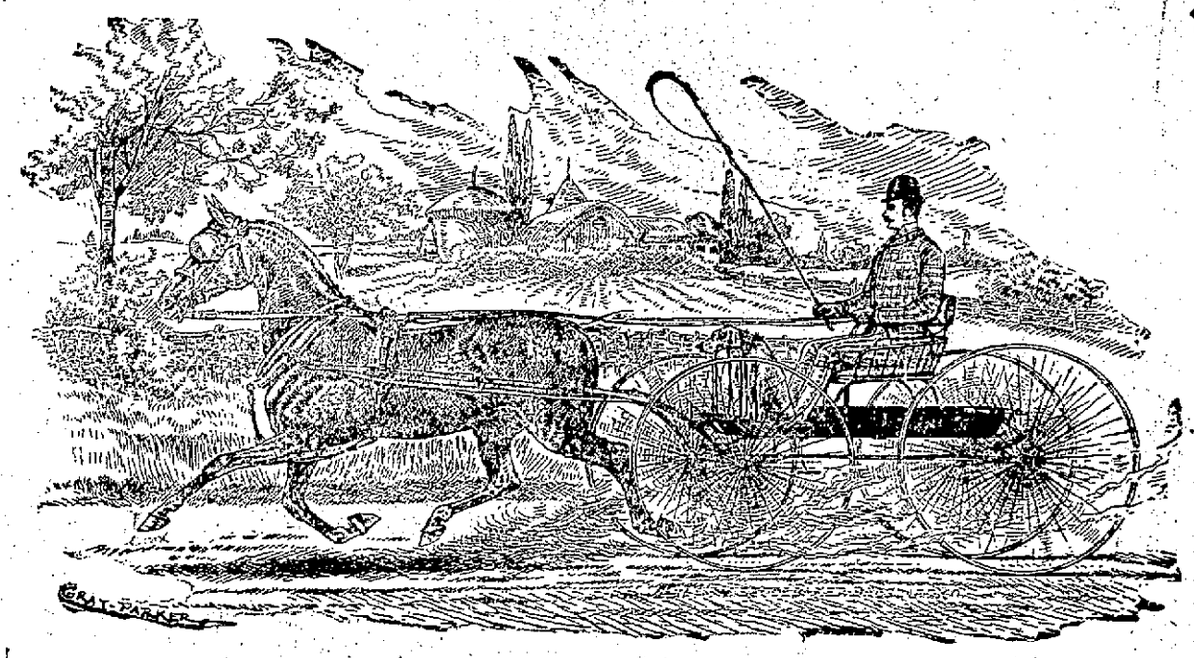
Buggy Tastes are Changing

The monotonous style of vehicle of a few years ago does not find place with the up to-date buyer of today.



The demand for rigs of natty appearance increases each season. This year the swell turnouts combine comfort with style. The open runabout buggy with eliptic springs and rubber tires, or the top buggies with rubber tires, have a tendency to make the person who has no outfit a trifle envious. Handsome Buggies do not cost as much as you think for. Prices are reasonable and the rigs are the best.
